

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

STATE OF NEW YORK

INSURANCE DEPARTMENT

ALBANY, May 31, 1915.

To the Honorable the President of the Senate:

SIR.— The annual report of the Superintendent of Insurance, Part I, containing detailed information relating to the fire and marine insurance companies for the calendar year ending December 31, 1914, is herewith transmitted to the Legislature.

Included in this report is the preliminary text and tables of the annual report of the Department placed before the Legislature on February 15, 1915.

Respectfully yours,

Frank H. Brouck

Superintendent.

FIFTY-SIXTH ANNUAL REPORT

OF THE

SUPERINTENDENT OF INSURANCE

STATE OF NEW YORK, INSURANCE DEPARTMENT

ALBANY, N. Y., February 15, 1915

TO THE LEGISLATURE:

Section 46 of the Insurance Law requires that:

"The superintendent of insurance shall annually transmit to the legislature at the opening of its session, or within ninety days thereafter, a report containing the statements and reports made to him pursuant to the provisions of section forty-four of this chapter, as such statements and reports shall be audited and corrected by him, all arranged in tabular form, or in abstracts, in classes according to the kind of insurance made by the corporation * * *."

Inasmuch as the annual statements of insurance corporations are not required by law to be filed prior to the 15th day of February, and, when filed, contain such a mass of detailed information, much of which requires a very careful audit and sometimes an explanation from the corporation before it can be reconciled with the statements filed in previous years, it is not possible to comply strictly with the requirement of this statute. The practice has accordingly grown up for the Superintendent of Insurance to transmit to the Legislature early in the session a preliminary report which shall serve as an introduction to the complete report, comprising several volumes which contain the detailed information with respect to the affairs of domestic and authorized foreign insurance corporations which the statute requires, and at the same time shall give a general account of transactions had during the past year and the views of the Superintendent with respect to problems confronting the department as well as suggestions with regard to necessary legislation. In accordance with this custom, I have the honor to submit the preliminary text of the fifty-sixth annual report of the Superintendent of Insurance covering the calendar year ending December 31, 1914.

LEGISLATION

The Insurance Law was first codified, in the sense of being assembled into a single chapter of the Revised Statutes, by chapter 690, Laws of 1892. The provisions prescribing the terms upon which corporations might be organized, and the authority conferred to transact the business of insurance of the various kinds recognized by law, displayed, after codification, all of that lack of uniformity which characterized them when originally enacted as independent statutes. Indeed, the various statutory revision commissions seem to have been without authority to change the law, except to eliminate provisions either obsolete or repealed by necessary implication. Section 2 of chapter 664, Laws of 1904, creating the Board of Statutory Consolidation, provides:

“§ 2. The plan and scope of the work shall follow that adopted in the general laws, so far as practicable. The statute shall not be changed in substance except that as to matters of procedure such board shall report for enactment such amendments as it shall deem proper and necessary to condense and simplify the existing practice and as shall adapt the procedure to existing conditions.”

The Insurance Law, like the insurance business itself, has been a matter of gradual growth and development. As the need for insurance protection increased and the necessity of large aggregations of capital for the protection and security of policyholders became recognized, corporations created under special acts gradually displaced individual underwriters; and later, in accordance with the requirements of section 1 of article VIII of the Constitution, provision was made for the organization of insurance corporations under general acts.

With the introduction of the mutual idea, statutes were likewise enacted permitting the incorporation of co-operative companies of various sorts, and finally, by still more recent statutes, there has been authorized the organization of corporations having power to write health and accident and casualty insurance, surety bonds and title, mortgage and credit guaranties and other still more modern forms of insurance, the last of which has been workmen's compensation on the mutual plan. These statutes, which were first included into a single chapter of the Revised Statutes with some attempt at a systematic arrangement by chapter 690, Laws of 1892, together with such additions as had been made through amendment, including the very marked changes which occurred as a result of the investigation of life insurance companies by the Armstrong Committee in 1905, were re-enacted by chapter 33, Laws of 1909, as chapter 28 of the Consolidated Laws. Since 1909, the development of the Insurance Law by amendment and addition has continued unabated, and the process is, in my opinion, yet far from completed. For this reason, and not from any failure to recognize the desirability of such a revision or redraft of the law as will give it for all time a unity of principle and uniformity of application, the absence of which has heretofore characterized it, no steps have been taken under the authority conferred by chapter 707 of the Laws of 1913, and no part of the appropriation of $25,000 thereby made for the revision of the Insurance Law has been expended.

By the statute referred to it is provided:

"The Superintendent of Insurance is hereby authorized to prepare a thorough revision of the insurance law, both as to form and substance, for submission if possible to the legislature of nineteen hundred and fourteen
• • •."

Although, in my judgment, the time is not yet ripe for such a comprehensive redraft and revision of the Insurance Law as was contemplated by this statute, and as will unquestionably be of incalculable advantage to all concerned when ultimately accomplished, I believe that when conditions in the insurance business shall have reached a stage of comparative fixity and the process of change in the statutes corresponding with changes in business conditions shall have in a measure ceased, this work should be entrusted to the Insurance Department. To that end, and at the proper time, the matter will doubtless be brought to your attention and the necessary authority and means therefor again requested and granted. Such recommendations for the amendment of the law as I feel warranted in submitting for your consideration will be made in connection with the discussion of related topics at appropriate places elsewhere in the report.

VALUATION OF SECURITIES

In connection with the audit of the annual statements submitted to this and the other supervising departments in the United States, it is necessary to ascertain the values of the securities in which the assets of such corporations are invested. The work of such valuation has, for some years past, been conducted on behalf of all supervising departments by the Committee on Valuation of the National Convention of Insurance Commissioners, of which the Superintendent of Insurance of New York has been the chairman from the outset. The actual work is performed by the Audit Bureau of the New York Department in conjunction with Marvyn Scudder, of No. 55 Wall street, New York City, with whom the committee has made a contract which places the extensive facilities of Mr. Scudder's financial library at our disposal. It has been the practice for this committee to publish and issue, as soon as practicable after the close of each calendar year, a list of securities held by insurance companies, with valuations fixed as of December 31st.

One of the most perplexing problems of the past year has been the determination, for use in the preparation of current valuation list, of an equitable basis for the valuation of these securities. Until the transmission by Austria-Hungary of its ultimatum to the Servian government on July 23, 1914, market conditions had been stable, and at the close of business on July 22 quotations were generally as high as they had been at any time during the year. Within less than a week thereafter, unprecedented offerings of securities for sale, chiefly by European investors, had so depressed quotations that the security market was thoroughly demoralized; and a panic of most serious proportions was averted only by the closing of the various exchanges in Europe and in this country. This process of liquidation was occasioned principally by a desire or the necessity on the part of investors to realize upon their investments at once. The fall in official quotations was, therefore, properly regarded as reflecting the needs of the investors rather than a change in the intrinsic value of the securities concerned.

When the time arrived for the committee to commence work on the valuation list, the American exchanges were still closed, and there was no indication of any intention to reopen them within the near future. The latest date as of which it appeared at that time possible to obtain quotations was, therefore, July 30th; and the prices prevailing on that date were well-nigh panic prices. To be sure, the New York Stock Exchange and the other American exchanges have since reopened in a restricted way; but the minimum prices at which members are required to deal in many of the most active stocks are factitious rather than reflective of market conditions.

After a thorough canvass of the situation in a voluminous correspondence with various supervising officers interested, the consensus of opinion reached was that the violent disturbances which had occurred and the artificial conditions which existed in the stock and bond market, which rendered uniformity in quotations impossible, had destroyed the utility of such quotations as measures of intrinsic value. Accordingly the committee recommended and the National Convention, by a resolution passed without a dissenting vote at an adjourned meeting held at New York City on December 9th, authorized the use of official quotations for June 30, 1914, in the valuation book, except in those cases where it should appear that, by reason of subsequent occurrences affecting the intrinsic worth of particular securities, such quotations would not fairly represent the actual value of such securities under normal conditions.

By this treatment of the question, in which all of the supervising insurance departments have concurred, a workable rule for the valuation of securities was established. The rule itself, while not in any wise conflicting with the fundamental object of the audit of companies' statements, viz., the ascertainment of their actual financial condition, was at the same time fair to the companies whose funds, aggregating many hundreds of millions of dollars, are invested in stocks and bonds. Furthermore, the principle of uniformity in practice among supervising departments as respects the valuation of securities, which the National Convention of Insurance Commissioners had achieved by the establishment of its Committee on Valuations, and which had been seriously threatened by the exigencies of the occasion, was by this means preserved.

UNITED STATES BRANCHES OF EUROPEAN INSURANCE CORPORATIONS

By sections 27 and 28 of the Insurance Law, provision is made for the admission to the transaction of the business of insurance in this State of corporations organized or existing under the governments or laws of countries outside of the United States; and for the making of deposits with supervising departments and the establishment of funds in the hands of trustees for the exclusive benefit and protection of their policyholders in the United States. The amounts of the trust funds established by these corporations in accordance with the requirements of law are carried in their appropriate places in the statistical tables which precede the annual statements of the various classes of insurance corporations published in Parts I, II and III of the annual report. Moreover, the annual statements filed by all such alien insurance corporations in accordance with the provisions of section 44 of the Insurance Law, and subjected to audit before being included in the Superintendent's annual report, cover only the business transacted and funds accumulated by them in the United States. Under our statutes, therefore, the United States Branches transact business as quasi entities, rather than as parts of their parent corporations; and the holders of their insurance policies are able, at any time, to ascertain their financial condition and determine their loss-paying ability with the same facility as they can ascertain and determine the facts with respect to domestic corporations.

Upon the outbreak of the European war, however, considerable uneasiness was manifested by brokers, agents, insurers and lenders of money holding insurance policies as collateral security, as to the resources and funds of these United States Branches, and the consequent value of their policies. The inquiries, which were addressed to the department, indicated a failure on the part of insurance men and the public generally to appreciate the degree of protection from complications abroad which the laws of this State afford the policyholders of such corporations. In order, however, to assure to such policyholders the full protection which the law accords and to prevent, if possible, discrimination by insurance brokers against these United States Branches in their distribution of risks, a circular letter was addressed to the various trustees, calling their attention to the provision of the trust deeds forbidding the release or transfer of funds to the company without the consent of the Superintendent of Insurance; and to the United States managers, urging them to hold all funds in their possession for the protection of American policyholders. The responses to these letters were immediate, and indicated complete accord on the part of the trustees and United States managers with the views of this department. While, therefore, there has inevitably been some disturbance in the business of the United States Branches of companies, the provisions of law enacted for the protection of United States policyholders are being scrupulously observed; and the result of this department's action in the matter has been most helpful in dispelling unnecessary alarm.

UNIFORM CLASSIFICATION OF FIRE HAZARDS

The most important and significant event of the year in the fire insurance field was the inauguration by the National Board of Fire Underwriters of a practical and comprehensive plan for the gathering of the combined loss experience of the fire insurance companies transacting business in the United States. That reliable statistical data are a necessary preliminary to scientific and equitable rating was pointed out by the Joint Committee of the Legislature (popularly known as the Merritt Committee) in its report dated February 1, 1911. In that report the efforts which had heretofore been made to ascertain such experience are described generally, and the reason for their invariable failure is pertinently ascribed to lack of interest or jealousy on the part of the companies, and to the diversity of their methods of classifying risks and recording losses. The committee concludes its discussion of the immediate topic with the assertion that:

"It is properly a matter which should be handled by a committee of the National Convention of Insurance Commissioners in conference with the companies * * * *."

In a circular letter dated May 20, 1912, and addressed to fire insurance companies operating in the State of New York, Superintendent Emmet expressed the desire to secure information relative to their underwriting and loss experience on risks from which could be obtained (a) the ratio of premiums to amount at risk and (b) the ratio of losses to amount at risk and premiums for the period of ten years commencing January 1, 1900. A tentative plan of classification under which this data should be supplied was submitted to the companies for consideration, and a special committee of the National Board of Fire Underwriters was appointed to consider this plan and confer with representatives of the department. The subject was also presented to the National Convention of Insurance Commissioners held at Spokane, Washington, in July, 1912. The convention created a Committee on Uniform Classification, of which Superintendent Emmet was appointed chairman. During the year that followed, the Committee on Uniform Classification met and conferred frequently with the special committee of the National Board of Fire Underwriters, which had been appointed originally to confer with Superintendent Emmet with reference to the circular letter of May 20, 1912; but nothing definite was accomplished.

At the next annual meeting of the National Convention, which was held in August, 1913, an additional committee was created for the purpose of considering the cognate subject of fire rates. The further impetus which this new committee gave to the movement led to the creation by the National Board of Fire Underwriters of an Actuarial Committee for the purpose of formulating a plan under which the combined experience of the companies operating in the United States could be obtained. This Actuarial Committee devised a system for the "Uniform Classification of Occupancy Hazards," which the Executive Committee of the National Board unanimously approved and recommended for adoption in September, 1914, and which the National Board of Fire Underwriters itself, at a special meeting held on October 29th, accepted by a resolution which reads in part as follows:

"First. That the classification of occupancy hazards and the form of loss report blank, as prepared by the Actuarial Committee, be adopted and made the standards of the National Board of Fire Underwriters to take effect January 1, 1915;

"Second. That each Company member of the Board begin to use the same from said date, in place of any and all other forms of classification and loss report blanks that may now be in use, in order that uniformity of practice may be secured, thus making possible a combined experience of the National Board Companies of real value for statistical purposes;

"Third. That there be established within the Board a new department to be known as the Actuarial Bureau, the work of which shall be to gather from the members of the Board, as well as from such non-member companies as may desire to join in the work and support of the Bureau, their experience of writings and losses in the United States, which experience shall be classified according to the standards hereby adopted. This experience to be combined and tabulated for the purpose of obtaining the fire loss costs of each and every class of hazard in the United States."

The National Convention of Insurance Commissioners at its meeting held at Asheville, North Carolina, in September, 1914, had already approved and recommended the adoption of this plan by a resolution which reads as follows:

"That the National Convention of Insurance Commissioners recommends the adoption by this Convention and by the several State Insurance Departments of the Standard Classification of Occupancy Hazards, also Loss Report Form, for Use in Ascertaining Fire Costs, as prepared by the Actuarial Committee of the National Board of Fire Underwriters and adopted by the Executive Committee of that body the current month; that the establishment of a Loss Bureau by the said Board be approved for securing a uniform system of classification of losses incurred and risks written.

. "The Convention pledges its support to the plan so laid out for the purpose of securing uniform and combined experience of value for rate-making purposes and to such further developments of the plan as shall be deemed wise in the future. To the furtherance of this end the Convention hereby continues the authority of its Committee having this subject in charge."

Under these auspices an Actuarial Bureau has been created for the purpose of putting this plan into operation, and the one hundred and twenty-eight leading fire insurance companies comprising the membership of the National Board of Fire Underwriters and fourteen of the principal non-member companies, carrying upwards of 90 per cent. of the amount of fire insurance at risk in the United States, have already commenced the collection of data with respect to such risks and the losses sustained thereon. This data will be submitted to the Actuarial Bureau and used as a basis for a sound and scientific schedule of fire insurance rates. In addition, the loss reports submitted to the bureau will be analyzed with a view to determining the character and the causes of the fire losses to which the various classes of property are subject. The adoption of this plan promises to lessen and eventually remove the friction and dissatisfaction which has sprung up between insurers and the insured with relation to the rates charged for fire insurance, and may well be expected to develop scientific information concerning the causes of fire and their prevention, which results will be highly beneficial.

FIRE INSURANCE RATES

Since the question of fire insurance rates was last officially discussed with your body, the Supreme Court of the United States has handed down a decision (German Alliance Fire Insurance Co. v. Kansas, 233 U. S. 189), in which the abstract question of the power of a State to fix insurance rates has been decided in the affirmative. The statute, chapter 152 of the Kansas Session Laws of 1909, provides by section 3:

"When the superintendent shall determine any rate is excessive or unreasonably high or not adequate to the safety or soundness of the company, he is authorized to direct the company to publish and file a higher or a lower rate, which shall be commensurate with the character of the risk; but in every case the rate shall be reasonable."

The Superintendent of Insurance had ordered a horizontal reduction of 12 per cent. from the schedule of rates which had been filed by the company pursuant to law; and the company filed a bill in equity to restrain the enforcement of the order on constitutional grounds. The court in its opinion did not consider the question of the possible inadequacy of the new rate, but held that inasmuch as the insurance business is clothed with a public interest, the statute constituted a lawful exercise of the power vested in the Legislature to regulate and control such business.

Unless, therefore, the efforts which the fire insurance companies are making to ascertain their combined experience shall result in scientific and demonstrably accurate rates within the very near future, the movement toward State rate-making is likely to be stimulated by this decision.

In this State fire insurance rates are generally fixed by rate-making associations. These associations, which are supported by the so-called board companies, are subject to examination by the Superintendent of Insurance; and both they and the companies are forbidden by law to:

"* * * fix or make any rate or schedule of rates or charge a rate which * * * discriminates unfairly between risks in the application of like charges or credits or which discriminates unfairly between risks of essentially the same hazards and having substantially the same degree of protection against fire."

The Superintendent of Insurance has no power to determine the reasonableness or unreasonableness of rates generally. He can merely order the removal of an unfair discrimination after the fact has been established at a hearing. With the data gathered by the Actuarial Bureau available for use in checking up companies' rates, it is my opinion that the statute, as it stands at present, affords complete protection to the insured. State rate-making is a long step toward State insurance; and although fire insurance is admittedly a necessary part of our commercial life, the necessity for State insurance has not yet been shown. Similarly the State should not assume the obligation of making fire insurance rates, unless the present methods fail to produce reasonable and equitable rates, nor until the State shall be in position to fix rates which are more fair and equitable than those fixed by the companies. The hasty introduction of ill-considered changes in the law has a most disturbing influence upon settled, orderly and well-regulated business, and tends to create evils greater than those which are sought to be remedied. Improvements through change in business practice and management can usually be effected only gradually and as the result of hearty co-operation between the companies and the supervising authority.

FIRE PREVENTION

It is, of course, axiomatic that the limit of progress in the direction of lower rates, whether state-made or company-made, is the cost of insurance. This limit varies and is determined principally by the fire waste. In the five year period ending December 31, 1913, the losses incurred in the State of New York by fire insurance companies aggregated $119,275,000. To pay these losses and the cost of distributing them the companies collected in New York State a total of $228,200,000 or an average of $45,640,000 a year, a sum rivaling in amount the cost of conducting the State Government. Under the prevailing conditions affecting the cost of procuring business, over which the companies have no control, this premium tax could not have been appreciably reduced without injury and injustice to the insurance carrier.

The most effective and equitable means of reducing the fire insurance cost is, therefore, to reduce the fire waste. Excessive fire waste is due to indifference or ignorance regarding the principles of fire prevention, lax building methods, carelessness and incendiarism. The crying need, therefore, is not the enactment of statutes regulating or establishing fire insurance rates, but statutes requiring searching investigation of fires, extending the principles of fire prevention and encouraging or requiring the installation of fire extinguishing facilities.

The fire insurance business, even as conducted by the stock companies themselves, is essentially a mutual enterprise. The loss of one policyholder is the concern of all, for the reason that, upon last analysis, such loss is paid from the contributions of all the insured to a common fund. In the recent conflagration at Salem, Massachusetts, involving property loss estimated at between $14,000,000 and $16,000,000, the mutual companies were involved to the extent of $4,000,000. This loss directly and appreciably affected all the other policyholders in each of the mutual companies by way of reduced dividend return, or what amounted to the same thing, by an increase in the cost of insurance. Stock companies, like the mutual companies, act merely as agents for the distribution of losses; and the payment of the San Francisco conflagration losses required contributions from Maine and Massachusetts, as well as from California. Similarly there is a subtle relationship between the premiums collected in New York City and a $1,000,000 loss paid on a lumber yard in Buffalo, or between $2,000,000 in loss suffered through the burning of palatial summer residences on Long Island and the increase of rates in Albany County, although such relationship may not be directly traceable. It must, therefore, be conceded that the loss occasioned by the carelessness, negligence or criminality of one affects all, and whatever measures the State adopts to reduce the fire waste will result in the reduction of insurance cost, and in that way also benefit the whole community.

LIFE INSURANCE

The life insurance companies authorized to do business in this State constitute in point of financial strength probably the most important branch of insurance under the supervision of the department. And not alone are they important because the obligations of their policy contracts require a constantly increasing accumulation of assets to insure the payment of these contracts at maturity, but because the service they render is of such a nature as to have interwoven them, more than is the case with any other business institution, into the very fabric of the family, social and business life of the American people. We hear much of the virtues and progress of compulsory life insurance and of State life insurance in the countries of Europe whose civilization, in this respect at least, some would have us believe is superior to our own. But in viewing the development of life insurance in the United States one cannot fail to be impressed with the thought that whatever the condition may be elsewhere, life insurance written through private or non-governmental agencies in this country has had a phenomenal growth due to the natural desire and the voluntary action of our citizens.

As illustrating this growth, it is of interest to note that in two decades, or from 1893 to the end of 1913, the legal reserve life insurance in force has increased in this country from $5,291,586,484 to $20,564,469,945, and the assets of the companies have increased from $987,946,924 to $4,658,696,337.

In this development the companies of New York have always occupied a conspicuous place. Not only have they ever been in the lead in the writing of new insurance, insurance in force, and in assets, but also in the development of the usefulness of life insurance by rendering an ever-widening service to their policyholders.

The department is naturally in close touch with all the activities of these companies. Under the law it must examine each domestic company at least once in three years. This it does and in a most searching manner. The books of a company are audited with care by expert examiners. Every detail of the business is thoroughly investigated by men who are as familiar with the requirements of the insurance law as they are with accounting. Besides this, the Audit Bureau of the department is constantly engaged in checking the annual and quarterly statements of the companies; the examining and actuarial staffs are consulted frequently by company officials as new questions arise or as old problems develop new angles. In all of these supervisory activities the department aims to have the spirit as well as the letter of the law observed by the companies.

Thus is a constant supervision maintained by the government of this State over these great institutions which are entrusted with the savings of the people. And it is but just to record that in performing this necessary and important work the department does not act as critic merely. It finds much to commend, and when company officials show by their attitude, acts and accomplishments that they are earnestly striving to obey the law and achieve results by working well within it and with wholesome respect for it, the department does not withhold its praise, nor should it. Some of the most satisfactory work which the department is called upon to perform as part of its routine duty is on the constructive side, where it can co-operate by suggestion or advice concerning new undertakings, or assist in the solving of difficulties which naturally arise in a business which is subject to the supervision of so many states and concerning which there is such a multiplicity of laws on the statute books.

In this connection, it is not too much to say that since the radical amendment of the insurance laws in 1906, supervision as to life insurance has taken on a new meaning. One great result, which was in contemplation by your predecessors in the Legislatures of 1906 and 1907, was to make the department more responsible to the people for the integrity and well-being of the companies which were permitted to do business in the State. The passage of highly restrictive and wholesome laws, instead of creating an undercurrent of antagonism between the companies and the department and emphasizing unpleasantly the relative spheres of the supervisor and the supervised, compelled a reliance by the companies on the department, as in the course of the succeeding years these laws have been construed and practically applied. The previous annual reports to your honorable body and the special reports of examinations, of my predecessors, bear ample evidence that the outcome from the operation of these laws has been a willingness by company officials to accept rigid supervision as a helpful factor in the development of the life insurance business. In the main these engaged in company activities cheerfully acquiesce in the idea that no more will the people permit the companies to be operated as purely private institutions.

This spirit has helped the department meet its responsibilities the more easily and has assisted measurably in strengthening our American system of life insurance, wherein the government regulates, restrains and guides but where the responsibility for initiative, progress and accomplishment is left with the individual. For its part in demonstrating the superiority and efficiency of such a system New York may well feel proud.

It would be of no special interest to enumerate here the details of this supervision during the past year, which will be found in Table D attached hereto. The results of the statutory examination of many of the individual companies completed during the year have been published and can be secured on application to the department, and the examinations now under way will be similarly reported.

THE MUTUALIZATION OF THE METROPOLITAN

By far the most noteworthy event of the insurance year in any branch of the business has been the mutualization of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company. In taking an active and leading part in the efforts which resulted in placing this company and its millions of surplus forever beyond the control of or possible distribution among a comparatively small group of stockholders, the department, in my judgment, has added substantial honors to its record as a constructive and conserving force in the affairs of government in this State.

The company came into being in 1865 under the name of the National Travelers Insurance Company, and secured the right to transact a life insurance business in 1867. In 1868 the present name was adopted. Its original capital was $100,000, which was increased from time to time until in 1883 the final total was fixed at $2,000,000, all of which was issued. This stock was limited to an earning power of seven per cent. and no more than this was ever paid to stockholders. The company does both an industrial and an ordinary life business. In 1883 its insurance in force was $63,425,107 and its assets $2,186,622. In the year just closed its outstanding insurance was $2,991,114,069, while its assets were $496,862,771. The number of policies outstanding is about fifteen million.

The insurance written by the company was on the non-participating plan. The company was thus under no legal obligation to its policyholders to return them any part of its profits or savings, nor to apply any part of such savings in the reduction of the premiums stipulated in the policies. Its legal obligations to its policyholders were fulfilled when it paid the amounts specified in the policies issued. Notwithstanding this fact, nor the further fact that for many years the company had voluntarily returned or credited on its industrial policies many millions as bonuses and had expended millions in a well-developed system of welfare work for its policyholders and employees, its annual statement for the year ending December 31, 1914, shows that it had accumulated a surplus to policyholders of approximately $33,000,000, exclusive of capital.

In view of the fact that the policyholders had no right under their contracts to participate in the savings of the company, it seemed plain that those savings did not belong to them as of legal right. The title to the surplus was in the company. And the stockholders owned the company, and, while for many years the policyholders who held policies in amounts of $1,000 or over had been privileged to vote for directors, and thus had participated in the management, the charter of the company reserved to the stockholders the right to have two-thirds of the board named from among themselves. The charter limitations of the dividends on the stock to seven per cent. per annum may well have been binding while the company was a going concern, but the question of who owned the surplus in the event of the liquidation of the company was interesting. Who would have had title to this fund if the company had reinsured all its risks and discontinued business, transferring as incident to the reinsurance ample assets to cover all liabilities on policy contracts or otherwise?

This question happily was never urged, and it is not necessary to express an opinion thereon. The mere statement of it, however, suggests that the legal right of the stockholders to such fund could not be lightly brushed aside, if instead of co-operating for the greatest good of the company and the policyholders they had chosen to pursue to the utmost for themselves any legal right which they possessed in and to such fund. The situation, therefore, was not without its disquieting features, although at no time was the issue of ownership, or right to a distribution, raised. The point is here alluded to for the purpose of emphasizing the significance of what took place. Without compulsion, and even without public agitation, but because it was recognized by the stockholders and the management of the company that as years went on and the assets of the company increased still more, the very existence of the question, together with the dangers of a shifting stock control, might create a situation where the usefulness of the company would be seriously impaired, it was decided to determine the ownership of the surplus in favor of the policyholders. Hence, section 95 of the Insurance Law was invoked to mutualize the company and settle the question.

On November 6, 1914, the Board of Directors, by unanimous vote, and in accordance with the statute, adopted a plan of mutualization which provided for the payment of $75 a share for each share of stock, par value $25. This involved the payment of $4,000,000 from the surplus of the company. On December 4th, at a regularly called meeting, the plan was unanimously adopted by the stockholders, and on December 28th it was ratified at a meeting of policyholders, the plan having been submitted to them beforehand pursuant to statute.

On December 30th thereafter, the Superintendent, preparatory to the submission of the plan to him for his action thereon, authorized a special examination of the assets and liabilities of the company. The report on such examination, filed January 4, 1915, showed that the assets or surplus of the company beyond its entire liabilities which included the net values of all its outstanding contracts, computed according to the statutory standard of valuation, and all contingent reserves, and after setting aside the $4,000,000 proposed in the mutualization plan to be paid to retire the stock, was $29,294.660.01.

Thus was it proposed to the department by all parties in interest and in accordance with the statute made and provided for just such a purpose, that the stockholders turn the company and its control over to the policyholders, and for the sum of $4,000,000 quit claim, as it were, their rights in a fund in excess of $33,000,000.

Considering all phases of the questions presented, the present and probable future rights of the stockholders, the fact that the outstanding policies were on the non-participating plan, which in and of themselves seemed to negative the idea of the policyholders having any rights in the company's surplus, and the desirability of removing all questions which might tend to disturb the progress and development of a company such as the one under discussion, the Superintendent and his advisers within the department who had been in touch with the matter since its inception, felt that there was but one conclusion possible and the plan was approved.

Thus the company was mutualized,—its stockholders eliminated, its policyholders alone given the right of control, and the right of participation in the savings of the company conferred upon each of its outstanding policies, aggregating nearly 15,000,000 in number, as though they had been written originally upon the participating basis. All policies written from now on will be upon the mutual or participating plan. There remains much for the company to do by way of readjustment in thus changing the status of its now almost three billion of outstanding insurance from the non-participating to the participating plan. That it will be successful in so doing none familiar with its history will doubt.

It is possible because of the vast amount of insurance which the company has in force, all written under that part of the Insurance Law which applies to non-participating companies and at low rates, that difficulties may be experienced in conforming its business and operations to the statutory requirements which were enacted to cover companies whose policies were on the mutual or participating plan at higher rates. The statute authorizing mutualization is deficient in that no provision seems to be made to apply to this situation. Without going into a technical discussion of this point, I will merely say that whatever defects exist in this particular, and which can be corrected without interfering in the least with the general purpose and motive of our excellent insurance laws, should be met by the proper amendment, so that the company and its policyholders, present and prospective, may enjoy to the fullest extent the fruits of the stockholders' generous act.

I have narrated briefly the main facts concerning this transaction. I hesitate to characterize it as in my judgment it deserves, for fear that such an attempt would but detract from the effect which the facts themselves must inevitably produce. I cannot refrain, however, from commenting that in view of the unrest everywhere in evidence in this country, and of the loose charges that popular government is endangered by our large financial institutions, and of the general questioning of men and motives, this action, wherein the directors and stockholders of this great company, without duress or public or official pressure, turned back to its millions of policyholders the funds saved from the premiums they had paid, is most reassuring. It furnishes another illustration of the wholesomeness of the condition existing in life insurance in this State at the present time, and must be a powerful factor in further disarming prejudice against the successful institutions which have brought the legal reserve life insurance system to its present state of efficiency and usefulness.

One of the satisfactory incidents connected with the completion of the change in status of the company in question is the very favorable and laudatory comments of its competitors which have come to the attention of the department. It is indeed a new era when instead of fostering distrust and suspicion in fierce competition with each other, which led in the old days to a distrust of them all by the public, the companies are so willing to commend the virtues and the accomplishments of a competitor when such commendation is fairly earned.

ELECTION OF DIRECTORS IN MUTUAL COMPANIES

A matter to which your attention has been drawn before is the provision of the Insurance Law respecting the election of directors of mutual companies. Under section 94 such companies are required to file with the department before each election of directors two complete lists of the names and postoffice addresses of their policyholders whose insurance has been in force twelve months prior thereto. Under the law it is a matter of no consequence whether there is a contest between opposing candidates for the position of director or not; the lists must be filed in any event.

It is submitted for your consideration, and the recommendation is made that an amendment be adopted which will obviate the necessity of filing the lists where there is no opposition to the election of the board proposed by the company. The preparing of the lists involves an expense which cannot be justified if no use is to be made of them. The filing of them on such occasions but burdens the records of the department and fills its storage rooms with a mass of material which serves no purpose whatever, but requires the time and care of department employees without any compensating benefit to the State or the policyholders of the companies.

There must be no weakening of the law which would impair in any way the rights of policyholders to select the directors of their respective companies, so I am not in favor of interfering with or amending those subdivisions of the section wherein the very elaborate and detailed method for conducting an election is set forth. In practice, the machinery proves expensive, but when used to determine a real and substantial contest for the election of directors it is worth all it costs, as it is a carefully worked out system for insuring to the policyholders, no matter where located, their right to vote, and also the careful canvassing of all votes cast. When, however, there is no opposition to the board nominated by the administration, or when there is a contest not instituted in good faith, then such expense is a sheer waste of policyholders' money and is indefensible. The last contest of this latter kind in one of New York's largest mutual companies, although absolutely futile of result, cost over $40,000.

To retain all that is precautionary and good in the election statute and at the same time overcome the defect pointed out, it is recommended that the law be amended so as to give the Superintendent a discretion in the matter of requiring companies to file a list of policyholders. If the department satisfies itself that there is a genuine and bona fide desire on the part of any considerable number of policyholders to nominate a board in opposition to that nominated by the administration, then the Superintendent should be permitted to order the list, or such portion of the list to be filed as would permit the dissatisfied policyholders to secure the names and addresses of as many more of their number as would be sufficient for their purposes in starting a campaign in opposition and placing a ticket of their own in nomination. In this connection it is suggested that in a company having over one hundred thousand policies outstanding, each in amount of $1,000 or more, no separate ticket from that named by the company should be nominated on the petition of policyholders less in number than one-tenth of one per cent. of such outstanding policies. This would provide a very reasonable minimum number of nominators in a case where there was considerable dissatisfaction among policyholders with the management of a company, and at the same time would forestall contests begun merely from mercenary motives or for vindictive purposes and with no possibilities of success. The policyholders are surely entitled to protection, not only against bad management, but also against the waste of contests begun in bad faith.

When, however, two or more tickets are duly placed in nomination, a list of all policyholders entitled to vote should be filed in the department, substantially as now provided by statute.

Another amendment in this connection which is recommended is that the qualified voters at the election of any mutual company be confined to those persons who are insured in sums of $1,000 and over. This is suggested by the situation which will result when the provisions of section 94 are applied to the company just mutualized, which has a large amount of industrial business outstanding. These policies are issued in large numbers upon the lives of minors, and in small amounts. Having in mind, therefore, the fact that section 95 of the Insurance Law, under which companies may be mutualized, provides that such mutualization shall take place on the approval of policyholders each insured to the extent of $1,000 or more, it seems reasonable that the two sections should be harmonized, so that the qualification entitling policyholders to vote for directors should be the same as that provided for in the case of voting on a plan of mutualization. It is not so much a question of giving all policyholders a right to vote as it is to make certain that the affairs shall be controlled in the interests of policyholders and by policyholders, if necessary for their protection.

TITLE INSURANCE AND MORTGAGE GUARANTY COMPANIES

Title insurance companies have for many years been subject to supervision by this department and have been required to file their annual reports with the Superintendent of Insurance. Because of the slight risk incurred from the fact that title insurance involves the guaranty of the correctness and accuracy of title examinations rather than their insurance in the usual sense of the term, losses on that account have been no more than nominal. The business of insuring titles has not been active for the last few years, but the title companies, either directly or through subsidiary companies, have undertaken and in many cases are now doing a large and increasing business in guaranteeing or insuring mortgages. Under the law as it existed prior to 1913, the business of guaranteeing mortgages could not, according to the opinion of the Attorney-General, be carried on by a company organized purely as a title insuring company. The amendment to the law in 1913 gave the companies this power and also widened and extended the jurisdiction of the department over such companies.

During the present year there has been organized a bureau specifically to take charge of the examination of title companies and examinations of several companies doing a title and mortgage guaranty business have been undertaken. Owing to certain apparent conflicts between provisions of the Banking Law and of the Insurance Law, it may be necessary to secure certain amendments to the law in order to give the department authority to require the mortgage guaranty business of the companies to be done on a safe and conservative basis.

WORKMEN'S COMPENSATION

From the sociological and economic point of view, the most important event of the year in the insurance world has been the launching of the new Workmen's Compensation Law. The act, which covers work accidents occurring in certain lines of industry, embracing three-quarters or more of the wage earners of the State, went into effect July 1, 1914. Although the administration of the beneficial features of the law has been entrusted to a special commission, the Superintendent of Insurance has the same supervisory authority over corporations writing workmen's compensation risks as over other insurance companies. So far as the insurance provisions of the law are concerned, therefore,— save the administration and supervision of the State Insurance Fund — this department has already played an important part, and will no doubt continue to do so.

The New York law differs in many respects from the compensation statutes of other states, and chiefly in that it recognizes that workmen's compensation is primarily an insurance matter. It is not sufficient that the State should pass a law requiring that employers shall be obligated to pay indemnity to their injured employees; it must go further and secure the payment of the amounts due. This has been done in New York by the requirement of compulsory insurance which may be effected in one of the following ways:

1. Through stock casualty insurance companies;
2. Through mutual companies organized under a special law for the precise purpose of insuring employers under this act;
3. By insurance with the State Insurance Fund, a quasi-mutual insurance organism under State management; and
4. By the method of so-called "self-insurance," whereby the employer is required to satisfy the Workmen's Compensation Commission as to his financial ability to pay all claims as they arise.

From a theoretical standpoint at least, these four methods of assuring payment of compensation seem to meet all necessary requirements. In the first place, no monopoly is granted to any one form of insurance, whether managed by the State or by private enterprise; and further, the principle is recognized that any form of insurance, however efficient and deserving of public confidence, should achieve its best results when placed in competition with other forms; and the further principle is applied that the competition shall be in point of service.

Heretofore our Insurance Law has not approved the application of the mutual idea to employers' insurance. It was, therefore, thought necessary to protect the newly organized domestic mutuals incorporated for the purpose of transacting the business of workmen's compensation insurance from the competition of foreign mutuals embracing this power which have been organized and in successful operation for several years. Accordingly, the statute provides that such foreign companies shall not be permitted to transact business in this State until January 1, 1917. Sixteen domestic mutuals have been organized and are in operation at the present time. It is too early to forecast what success mutual insurance is going to have in the compensation field; all we know at present is that a few of the mutuals have succeeded in obtaining more patronage than some of their stock company competitors, while others have been less successful. So far as the State Insurance Fund is concerned, this department has no official knowledge of its operations, and hence it would not be proper for me to make any statement on that score. I may say, however, that it seems to me unfortunate that the Fund was not placed under the supervision of this department, in order that all of the forms of competition which the law has authorized might be upon an equal footing in the experiment to determine the relative merit of each.

The method of self-insurance provided for by the law has been criticized on the ground that the privilege of carrying his own risk offers an incentive to the employer to discriminate in the selection of employees. It is claimed that this is particularly true with respect to the employment of men with families, since the law provides much greater benefits for such men than it does for those who are without dependents. If there is any truth in this assertion, it would seem that a proper corrective would be found in giving to the Commission authority to revoke the privilege of self-insurance upon satisfactory evidence that it had been abused. I feel that it would be unnecessarily harsh to eliminate altogether the self-insurance provision, especially when it is considered that some of our largest employers are already providing voluntary sickness and accident benefits to their employees far in excess of the requirements of the law. Such benefits, when locally dispensed under the vigilance of employees' committees, serve to minimize malingering and other abuses, besides having a wholesome effect upon the morale of the working force.

Concurrently with the Workmen's Compensation measure, the Legislature took steps to safeguard the solvency of insurance carriers operating under the supervision of this department by requiring that the premium rates for workmen's compensation insurance should be filed with the Superintendent of Insurance and by him approved as adequate for carrying the risks to which they apply. This is an important departure, and one which has been sorely needed in connection with certain lines of insurance in the past, notably that of employers' liability. In addition to preserving solvency, the establishment of adequate rates serves to exert a very wholesome effect in restraining the insurance companies from that reckless competition which in the long run destroys the weaker organizations and builds up a virtual monopoly among the stronger ones. Then, too, the practice of discrimination inevitably springs up when rates are not subject to some supervision. It seems to be a natural consequence, when absolute freedom prevails in the matter of rate-making, that the small purchaser of insurance pays the full tariff rate, while the influential one manages to secure substantial reductions.

Rates for workmen's compensation insurance are quoted upon the basis of a theoretically average experience covering a given class of industrial operations. Within any such class will be found varying degrees of hazard, according to the degree of excellence of the individual plant or risk. In other words, while a given risk may properly be assigned to a certain classification having a fixed tariff rate, yet it is possible, indeed usual, for such a risk to show a decided departure from the average hazard indicated by such tariff rate. To state the matter differently, the business of workmen's compensation insurance requires that practically all risks shall be specially rated, to reflect the conditions found by a local physical inspection, and those disclosed by a review of the accident experience of the risk.

There has grown up recently a method of rating individual risks upon the basis of a physical inspection, which method allows certain specific credits for favorable conditions, and imposes charges for those which are below standard. This method, which corresponds with the system employed in arriving at the fire insurance premium to be charged for complicated commercial and manufacturing risks, is similarly called "schedule rating."

One of the first problems to solve after the passage of the Workmen's Compensation Law was to devise a proper basis for schedule rating. A study of the situation convinced us that a successful application of schedule rating methods demanded a general scheme of physical inspections to be performed under the auspices of a central body acting for all companies, without fear or favor; and I feel that the department is justly entitled to be credited with the achievement of this purpose. Just before the act became effective there was established the Compensation Inspection Rating Board, the membership of which consists of the stock and mutual companies writing this class of business, and also the State Insurance Fund, so that all classes of insurance carriers are represented. It is the function of this Board to send inspectors to visit and report upon conditions disclosed in individual plants, and thereupon to determine the extent to which a departure from the manual or tariff rate for insurance should be made. A report recently obtained from the manager of the Board discloses that already there have been made under the direction of the Board 13,286 ratings, resulting in credit allowances of over $518,000, which constitutes a considerable saving in the cost of insurance to those employers whose establishments were found to exceed the minimum standards of fitness.

Under the old system of rate-making for employers' liability insurance, any difference in the premium rates for employers engaged in the same industry was usually the result of mere business-getting competition and was not based upon the merits of the different risks. There was, therefore, no incentive for an employer to install safety devices or otherwise to take measures to prevent or reduce the number and seriousness of accidents. One of the primary purposes which inspired the creation of the rating board was the establishment of a new system under which intelligent efforts made to reduce the hazard to employees might be encouraged by corresponding decreases in the cost of insurance. Under a workmen's compensation act, accident prevention and low insurance cost go hand in hand, and it should be the aim of every insurance organization to discover means of preventing accidents, which after all is the only way of permanently reducing compensation insurance cost. The Board performs another important function in addition to that of determining proper rates for individual risks. It establishes rules for assigning risks to their proper classifications, and whenever necessary creates new classifications to meet new situations not taken care of by those already existing.

Even under the method of rating which now prevails there is opportunity for discrimination through improper classification by the companies with intent to produce a lower premium rate than the risk should rightfully receive. Although this practice constitutes a violation of the Insurance Law, it is often difficult to ascertain or establish the facts. It would, therefore, seem desirable that the Rating Board should assume the duty not only of inspecting but of classifying all compensation risks in the State for the purpose of determining the rate of premium at which each risk should be carried. In this way the rate would be established on the proper merit basis, which both companies and employers should be obliged to accept. Considering the vast aggregate of compensation business in New York State, there seems to be relatively very little discrimination of this sort. At the same time, steps should be taken to prevent its increase, and I believe that the Rating Board is the organism best equipped to undertake such work.

The importance of proper classification is not confined merely to the question of discrimination, but strikes at the foundation of future rate making. The necessity for accurate statistical experience for rate-making purposes is universally recognized. As time goes on and the accumulation of experience progresses, the rate will tend to become more and more a matter of scientific calculation. This will not be true, however, unless the risks are scientifically classified at the outset and the payrolls of employers correctly ascertained by the insurance companies. There is a provision in the Compensation Law which, it seems to me, might be extended to apply to all insurance carriers under that law, although at present it relates only to the State Insurance Fund. I refer to section 101, which requires every employer who is insured in the State Insurance Fund to keep an accurate record of his payroll. There is no good reason why the employer who carries insurance with a stock or mutual company should not be likewise required to keep accurate records of payroll expenditure. This matter is of sufficient importance, in my judgment, to deserve the attention of the Legislature. It might even be found advisable to make the insurance companies subject to a penalty for failure to make proper payroll audits for determining the correct premiums and risk classifications.

One of the most troublesome questions that has been presented to the department by the Workmen's Compensation Law is that of determining adequate rates. When the law was first enacted, it was the fashion to emphasize the liberality of its benefits and to make extravagant estimates of its probable cost as compared with the cost under the less generous schedules of other compensation acts. I am frank to say that we do not yet know what will eventually be the relative cost of the New York law, but the belief is growing that the provisions will not be so burdensome as was at first anticipated. It is true that in fatal cases the dependents of the deceased employee receive benefits running for a long period of time. Likewise in cases terminating in permanent total disability, where a life income may become payable to the employee equal in amount to two-thirds of the average wages, the cost will unquestionably be great. I am inclined to doubt, however, whether the early cost of paying compensation under the New York act will work a hardship upon those of our employers who must compete with those of other manufacturing states which have adopted the principle of workmen's compensation. The tendency in all states will be to equalize conditions to a large extent by increasing their schedules to approximate the maximum payable in any state. At all events, the cost of benefits in New York for the first year or two will probably not greatly exceed the cost in neighboring states, especially those which have had a longer experience under workmen's compensation. It takes some time to educate the wage earners to the fact that an entirely new situation has been created by the abandonment of the old form of employers' liability and the adoption of the compensation principle. I do not advocate any increase in the scale of benefits which now prevails in this State; and I believe that no amendment of the statute reducing the "waiting period," during which compensation is not allowed, from two weeks to one week or less, as has been suggested, should be considered until the cost of compensation as now prescribed shall be reduced to approximate certainty. Moreover, when any such change is considered, its effect from the standpoint of the increased burden to employers should be kept in mind.

In approving the present manual of rates, I have been impressed with the fact that experience under workmen's compensation in Europe has shown that the early cost of compensation is by no means an index to what may be expected in later years. This statement should not be interpreted to mean that the losses of today can be deferred and paid out of the premiums to be collected at some future date. Under the system of fixed premium insurance as distinguished from assessment insurance, the losses incurred in each year must be paid from the premiums earned during the same year; otherwise the system lacks solvency. The determination of probable cost of a workmen's compensation act is a technical problem, and one which is not so susceptible of exact calculation as might be desired. For this reason there has been considerable agitation in insurance circles over the New York law, — two distinct schools of thought being represented in the controversy. The one was in favor of relatively high rates upon the supposition that the benefits under the New York law would cost anywhere from two and one-half to three times the cost under the original Massachusetts act. The other took a more optimistic view of the situation, and calculated that for the present at least it would be sufficient to figure that the cost would be about twice that experienced in Massachusetts. Feeling that the employers of the State were entitled to the lowest rates consistent with safety, and that the first year or two would not develop the ultimate maximum cost, the department approved as adequate a manual of rates predicated upon a differential between New York and Massachusetts of two hundred per cent.

This differential was not the only element which received consideration in connection with the fixing of rates. There was also the item of expense, which had been a problem for some time past in employers' liability insurance. Experience has taught us that the insufficiency of rates for liability insurance has been due not only to the cutting of rates for competitive purposes, but also to excessive expenses which have been the natural outgrowth of high pressure methods in the acquisition of business. About a year ago, in anticipation of a workmen's compensation measure for New York State, the companies were required by this department to limit their acquisition and administrative expenses, and later, when the New York law took effect, the ruling was extended so that we now have an outside limitation with respect to all classes of expenses of thirty-three and one-third per cent. of the premiums.

The service performed by the agent or broker on behalf of the public under a mandatory compensation law is very much less than if there were no compulsion to insure, so that even if the rates for this class of insurance were not considerably higher,—as they in fact are,—than the rates for liability insurance, the agent would still be well paid for his services on the basis of the limitation placed upon commissions by this department before the act went into effect. As matters now stand, the agent receives the same rate per cent. of commissions for his efforts under a law which is compulsory and which necessitates the payment by the assured of a greatly enhanced premium. Past efforts to control acquisition expenses by departmental ruling have met with partial success, but it has not been possible up to the present to enact suitable legislation in this direction. The limitation of commissions is not a popular measure with agency organizations, but it can only be a question of time when the remuneration for agents in the casualty field must be readjusted to an amount commensurate with the actual service performed. If the companies, themselves, do not find some effective means to correct this condition, legislation may be necessary to protect the policyholder, who, on last analysis, pays these excessive commissions as part of the cost of insurance. In such event, I see no reason why a graduated scale of commission rates, decreasing with increases in the amounts of the premiums upon which they are computed, should not be established by law. The fairness and practicability of such a method has already been demonstrated by its use in the assessment of income and inheritance taxes and in the provisions of the Code of Civil Procedure for the ascertainment of the commissions to be allowed to executors and administrators of decedents' estates and receivers of corporations.

The Compensation Law in its present form was prepared rather hastily to meet a situation created by Governor Sulzer's veto of a measure that had received very careful consideration from all sides. It is not surprising, therefore, that defects have developed in the course of the first few months of experience thereunder. There are two prominent features which, in my opinion, should be altered without delay, both of these having to do with matters that under present conditions serve to introduce uncertainty and delay in the administration of the act.

The first of these is that many employers are at sea on the question whether the law applies to them at all, which means that the attempt to define its scope by the enumeration of certain groups has not been very successful. There are two ways of correcting this evident defect. One is to express the operations covered by specific enumeration of the occupations of the individual employees. A better method, however, in my judgment, is to define by exclusion; that is, apply the law to all employments excepting certain specified classes, such as for instance, domestic servants, farm laborers and persons casually employed.

Again, the method prescribed by the law for the settlement of claims is entirely too cumbersome. This is unfortunate, since it occasions delay in the benefits reaching injured workmen and their dependents,—a defect which is emphasized when we recall that one of the prime objects of a workmen's compensation law is to effect prompt settlements and in every way possible to obviate delay. It seems to me that employers and insurance carriers should be permitted to settle their own claims under some system which gives the State supervision of the payments, without requiring an agency of the State to undertake the actual disbursement of claim moneys. The Legislature would do well to consider methods in vogue in other states, particularly Michigan and Massachusetts, where this latter method is successfully employed.

These two criticisms strike me as being the most important from the standpoint of immediate correction. Other suggestions for amendment doubtless will come to your attention. It is a satisfaction to be able to endorse the New York Compensation Law as a whole, and to realize in so doing that the Empire State has at last officially and practically recognized the humanitarian principle upon which it is based. So long as the recognition is only partial, however, we have a further duty to perform in relegating to the past all opportunity for litigation between employer and employee. This can be done effectively and promptly by extending the application of the present law to all sorts and conditions of employments, with the possible exception of the two or three classes already mentioned.

RESTRICTED VS. UNLIMITED UNDERWRITING POWERS

Our Insurance Law, which may perhaps be taken as typical of all the States, recognizes the following fields for the operation of stock corporations:

- I. Fire and marine, including the incidental risks of sprinkler leakage, lightning, hail, tornado, and automobile, except injuries to the person;
- II. Life, including health and accident, and employers' liability;
- III. Casualty, including fidelity, surety, burglary, plate glass, livestock, steam boiler, elevator, and automobile, except the fire hazard;
- IV. Title, including the guaranty of mortgages;
- V. Securities guaranty;
- VI. Credit guaranty.

Although this classification may not be wholly logical, nor each class mutually exclusive, it seems unnecessary to detail the process by which this classification was evolved. Suffice it to say that it is a very practical recognition of the fact that marked differences exist in the character and hazard of the various kinds of insurance business.

At the last session of the Legislature a bill was presented for the amendment of the Insurance Law, providing for the organization and admission to transact business in this State of corporations empowered to make reinsurances in every field of insurance. On this account the bill was regarded as out of harmony not only with the Insurance Law, but with the so-called American system of insurance, and it was felt that its passage might perhaps be a forerunner of the adoption in this country of a new system or theory for the regulation of insurance companies, which had been vaguely referred to by the advocates of the bill as the system obtaining in Europe.

The business of fire and marine and of life insurance was familiar and fairly well established in the United States before there was any thought of special laws to regulate corporations engaged therein; in fact, before there were even general laws for the organization of corporations. Special charters were at first granted by the Legislatures upon application by the parties interested, and, presumably, such powers accorded as were asked, if not thought to be inexpedient. In these charters life powers were sometimes coupled with fire and marine, or general insurance powers were conferred without any limitation; but in almost every instance the business of these early companies quickly became specialized, and limited to marine, marine and fire, or fire insurance exclusively. As the demand for life insurance grew, however, companies were organized under special charters embracing life powers only; and thus when the practice of authorizing incorporation under general laws came into vogue, and the necessity for the supervision of insurance corporations became recognized, the first logical subdivision into classes of the business of insurance as then carried on had already occurred, and naturally became embodied in the law.

Gradually, as the Legislatures recognized the necessity for evidences of good faith on the part of the promoters of new insurance companies, and of continued protection for the policyholders after the companies became established — especially in the instance of life insurance companies, which are primarily fiduciary corporations — requirements were imposed for the limitation of expenses, the making of deposits, the creation of reserves, and the accumulation of surplus. These requirements and their relations to outstanding liabilities, which of necessity vary in the several lines of insurance concerned, and the restricting of the character of the securities in which the companies may invest their assets — in fact, all the legal requirements which we very reasonably regard as fundamental to the proper conduct of the insurance business — have necessarily become an essential part of the so-called American system of classification, and, conversely, the American system of classification has become an integral part of the law and practice of departmental supervision of the insurance business.

The present-day classification of the business of insurance has thus been reached through a gradual process of elimination, starting with special charters containing any and all the powers the incorporators might choose to request, and gradually becoming more and more restricted as company experience and State supervision found the situation from time to time demanded. The trend abroad has been in the same direction. In England the danger of corporations with multifield charters is mitigated by the segregation of funds. Germany's life companies are restricted absolutely to the making of contracts which depend upon the duration of human life. In France a separate charter is required for each line of insurance written. In Canada the classification is even more rigid than in the United States.

It would appear, therefore, that the policy of classifying and limiting underwriting powers is generally recognized as sound. Such being the fact, I fail to see why we should at this time abandon a proven and well-nigh universal practice, and adopt or revive a policy which it has displaced. Any such change in our methods would involve the necessity of a readjustment of all relations between supervising departments and companies on the one hand, and between companies and their policyholders on the other, which would unsettle the business of insurance for many years to come. Moreover, if such a change were made, I submit that, unless the insurance business were subjected to a rigor and minutiae of supervision and regulation with which our companies are as yet unfamiliar, the funds contributed by policyholders would be deprived of that protection which they now enjoy from venturesome company managers ambitious to extend their business to new and untried fields.

Our American system appeals to me — with its limitations, its statutory reserves, publicity, and close departmental supervision — as conservative and safe. I cannot satisfy myself that it will be a wise departure — one in the interests of the insuring public — to permit one corporation, either a direct writer or a reinsurer, unlimited privilege to write the various lines of hazard which, under our present system, must be divided among separate corporations. Nor can I satisfy myself that it will be wise to subject the fiduciary or trust funds of a life company to the conflagration hazard, or to the indefinite liability incident to general casualty and miscellaneous insurance.

Respectfully submitted,

FRANK HASBROUCK,

Superintendent of Insurance.

INSURANCE LEGISLATION OF 1914

The following is a summary of bills amending or affecting the Insurance Law, passed or defeated during the legislative session of 1914:

DEPARTMENT BILLS NOW LAWS

Insurance Law

S. 403, INT. 118 (A. 122, INT. 123). CHAPTER 102 OF THE LAWS OF 1914.

An act to amend the Insurance Law, in relation to securities deposited by insurance corporations.

Amends section 13, by providing that all deposits heretofore or hereafter made with the Superintendent of Insurance by insurance companies, and the proceeds thereof, shall be held in trust according to the law relating thereto, without preference or priority for or on account of any cause or causes whatsoever to any beneficiary entitled to share therein. The sufficiency of these deposits in New York State having been questioned — it being claimed that certain creditors had preferences in the event of insolvency — it was thought necessary to amend the law by clearly and unequivocally defining the character of the funds and the rights of policyholders therein, thus making any claim of preference thereto impossible.

The bill became a law April 3, 1914, and went into effect immediately.

S. 97, INT. 97 (A. 111, INT. 112). CHAPTER 16 OF THE LAWS OF 1914.

An act to amend the Insurance Law, in relation to the approval of premium rates of corporations and associations transacting the business of workmen's compensation insurance.

Adds new section 67, requiring every insurance corporation or association, except the State insurance fund as administered by the State Workmen's Compensation Commission, transacting the business of Workmen's Compensation Insurance in this State, to file with the Superintendent of Insurance, for approval as to adequacy, its classification of risks and premiums, together with basis rates and schedules, and authorizing the Superintendent to withdraw his approval, if, in his judgment such rates or schedules are inadequate to provide the necessary reserves. A similar measure was vetoed by the Governor last year for the reason that the State insurance fund was not excepted from the provisions of the act, which defect is corrected in the present law. Its purpose is to provide safe insurance for the working people of the State by exercising a restraining influence over competing companies in the matter of rates.

The bill became a law March 4, 1914, and went into effect immediately.

S. 1336, INT. 845 (A. 1566, INT. 1106). CHAPTER 204 OF THE LAWS OF 1914.

An act to amend the Insurance Law in relation to life, health and casualty corporations.

Amends section 70, by adding new subdivision 11, authorizing casualty companies to insure against loss or damage to elevators or other property, excepting loss or damage by fire, caused by the maintenance, operation or use of elevators, and including loss by legal liability for damage to property resulting from such operation, maintenance or use. This amendment will enable a property owner to cover himself against loss or damage not only to his own property but to that of third persons.

Amends subdivision 10 of section 70 by broadening the power of insuring property against water damage so as to include loss of use or occupancy of the premises by reason of the breakage or leakage of sprinklers, pumps or water pipes.

Authorizes the issuance of a householder's or blanket policy by providing that companies issuing policies on residences and private apartments may embrace in one policy risks under subdivisions 3, 5, 6, 7, 10 and 11 of section 70, or any or either of them. It is expected that this simplification of insurance will prove of considerable convenience to the insuring public.

The bill became a law April 7, 1914, and went into effect immediately.

A. 220, INT. 220 (S. 167, INT. 167). CHAPTER 14 OF THE LAWS OF 1914.

An act to amend the Insurance Law, in relation to the agents of health and accident insurance corporations.

Adds new section 91-a, providing for the licensing annually by the Superintendent of Insurance of agents writing health and accident insurance and authorizing the Superintendent to refuse to issue or renew and to revoke such certificate for violation of the Insurance Law and fraudulent practices, after an investigation and hearing before the Superintendent. The measure follows a suggestion made by the New York Department to the National Convention of Insurance Commissioners at its annual session held in Burlington last year and is in harmony with the present legislative policy of giving greater discretionary powers to administrative officials in the matter of licensing a business which offers opportunities for fraud.

The bill became a law February 26, 1914, and went into effect July 1, 1914.

S. 1130, INT. 1001 (A. 1362, INT. 1241). CHAPTER 103 OF THE LAWS OF 1914.

An act to amend the Insurance Law, in relation to the limitation of expenses of domestic life insurance corporations.

Amends section 97, by providing that any corporation having less than eighty millions of insurance in force, may incur a total expenditure exceeding the limits of expenditure as herein defined by an amount not greater than certain prescribed percentages [named in the act] of its loadings for the preceding calendar year. This amendment in no sense of the word changes the limitation of expenses as now applicable to the larger life insurance companies. It does, however, establish a graded scale which is helpful to a smaller company in that with a smaller volume of income, it is possible to have a slightly larger percentage for expenses. Under the prior law, the smaller companies were so badly handicapped by the limit fixed by section 97, that they had no opportunity for growth. It is believed that with this modification the smaller companies will be given opportunities which they did not possess.

The bill became a law April 3, 1914, and went into effect immediately.

A. 868, INT. 821 (S. 654, INT. 606). CHAPTER 108 OF THE LAWS OF 1914.

An act to amend the Insurance Law, in relation to requiring adjusters of loss or damage by fire to procure a certificate of authority from the Superintendent of Insurance.

Amends section 138-a, by giving the Superintendent of Insurance sole discretion in the matter of licensing public adjusters of loss or damage by fire provided for in the former law. The purpose of this measure is to secure better regulatory control over an occupation which furnishes peculiar facilities for the commission of crime, by seeing that the business does not get into the hands of persons of questionable character or of notoriously bad reputation; and while the discretion delegated is judicial in character, it does not mean arbitrary power and the New York courts have so held.

The bill became a law April 3, 1914, and went into effect immediately.

A. 219, INT. 219 (S. 497, INT. 166). CHAPTER 13 OF THE LAWS OF 1914.

An act to amend the Insurance Law, in relation to agents.

Amends section 142, by broadening the powers of the Superintendent so as to permit him to reject applicants for agents' certificates. Under the law as it existed prior to this amendment, the Superintendent had the right, after due investigation and a hearing, to revoke a license which had already been issued, but he had not the right to exclude unworthy applicants for licenses by the same means. The amendment also exempts agents of health and accident companies from the operation of section 142, conditions in the health and accident agency field requiring special treatment, which is provided for by new section 91-a.

The bill became a law February 26, 1914, and went into effect July 1, 1914.

S. 996, INT. 907 (A. 1244, INT. 1146). CHAPTER 203 OF THE LAWS OF 1914.

An act to amend the Insurance Law, in relation to fraternal benefit societies.

Amends subdivision 2 of section 242, and section 245 relating to fraternal benefit societies, by providing that any excess of the present value of future contributions over the present value of promised benefits under certificates providing for disability benefits [other than total permanent disability in combination with death benefits], shall not be allowed in reduction of the liability under other forms of certificates; and terminating the limitation in the law of 1913, authorizing the organization of certain voluntary associations. These amendments remedy a defect in the method of valuation of this class of policies and permit the organization of voluntary associations subsequent to January 1, 1913.

The bill became a law April 7, 1914, and went into effect immediately.

Membership Corporations Law

S. 1262, INT. 1094 (A. 1537, INT. 1366). CHAPTER 167 OF THE LAWS OF 1914.

An act to amend the Membership Corporations Law, in relation to the effect of certain agreements with members.

Amends section 2 of the Membership Corporations Law, by providing that membership corporations [which term does not include an insurance corporation] agreeing with members to render aid within the amounts specified in subdivision "c" of section 245 of Article VII of the Insurance Law, shall not by reason of such agreement be deemed to violate the provisions of the Insurance Law. The purpose of this measure is to legalize the acts of certain membership corporations which had, in ignorance of the law, contracted to pay limited insurance benefits to their members. Owing to the peculiar nature of the corporations to which it is proposed to extend relief, it is believed that their recognition will not bring about any interference with or infringement of the prerogatives of the duly incorporated insurance corporations.

The bill became a law April 6, 1914, and went into effect immediately.

BILLS APPROVED BY THE DEPARTMENT AND NOW LAWS

Insurance Law

A. 1441, INT. 603 (S. 1233, INT. 404). CHAPTER 106 OF THE LAWS OF 1914.

An act to amend the Insurance Law, in relation to fraternal beneficiary societies, orders and associations.

Amends section 237, by providing that no service of process made upon the Superintendent of Insurance, as attorney for a foreign fraternal beneficiary society, shall be valid or binding against such society when it is required thereunder to file its answer, pleading or defense in less than twenty days from the date of such service of such process. The purpose of this measure is to give a corporation against which an action has been brought sufficient time to properly protect its interests.

The bill became a law April 3, 1914, and went into effect immediately.

Religious Corporations Law

S. 1177, INT. 834 (A. 1563, INT. 1020). CHAPTER 97 OF THE LAWS OF 1914.

An act to incorporate the Church Pension Fund, to provide pensions or other forms of support for clergymen of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the United State of America and churches in communion with said church, and for persons dependent on such clergymen, and to receive and hold property for the said purpose.

Incorporates "The Church Pension Fund," to provide pensions for clergymen of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the United States and for persons dependent upon such clergymen, and conferring on such corporation the powers now exercised by charitable corporations under the General Corporation Law, subject, however, to the provisions of sections 39 and 45 of the Insurance Law.

The bill became a law April 3, 1914, and went into effect immediately.

BILLS INTRODUCED BY VARIOUS MEMBERS WHICH HAVE BECOME LAWS

An Act Incorporating the Schenectady Firemen

S. 1118, INT. 989 (A. 1427, INT. 1293). CHAPTER 297 OF THE LAWS OF 1914.

An act to amend chapter one hundred and nine of the laws of eighteen hundred and sixty-two, entitled "An act to incorporate the firemen of the city of Schenectady, and for other purposes," in relation to the collection and distribution of the tax on foreign fire insurance companies, and their agents, in the city of Schenectady.

Amends section 10, of chapter 109, of the Laws of 1862, by providing that all taxes on foreign fire insurance companies and their agents, covering property situated in the city of Schenectady, shall be paid to the treasurer of the fire department for its use, and validating all payments heretofore made.

The bill became a law April 11, 1914, and went into effect immediately.

Labor Law

S. 1498, INT. 1244 (A. 460). CHAPTER 320 OF THE LAWS OF 1914.

An act to amend the Labor Law, in relation to compelling employees of a mercantile establishment to contribute to a benefit or insurance fund.

Adds new section 24, to the Labor Law, prohibiting mercantile establishments from compelling any employees to contribute from their wages to a benefit or insurance fund maintained for the employees of such establishment by such corporation or any other corporation, officers of such corporation violating the law being guilty of a misdemeanor and the corporation punishable by a fine of one hundred dollars.

The bill became a law April 14, 1914, and went into effect immediately.

Lien Law

S. 1394, INT. 1174 (A. 324). CHAPTER 266 OF THE LAWS OF 1914.

An act to amend the Lien Law, in relation to justification of sureties.

Amends section 21, of the Lien Law, in relation to justification of sureties, by providing that where a certificate of solvency has been issued by the Superintendent of Insurance under the provisions of section 181 of the Insurance Law and has not been revoked, no justification or notice thereof shall be necessary.

The bill became a law April 11, 1914, and went into effect immediately.

Tax Law

S. 578, INT. 541 (A. 185). CHAPTER 267 OF THE LAWS OF 1914.

An act authorizing the comptroller to revise and settle accounts paid under the provisions of section one hundred and eighty-seven of the Tax Law for the years ending December thirty-first, nineteen hundred and ten, and December thirty-first, nineteen hundred and eleven.

Authorizes the State Comptroller to readjust and resettle any account for taxes for the years 1910 and 1911, paid by any insurance corporation under section 187 of the Tax Law, by crediting to such corporation one per centum of the par value of any bonds of the State of New York held by it, not exceeding the amount of tax due and payable for each such year, provided, however, that such credit has not been previously allowed under section 190 of the Tax Law.

The bill became a law April 11, 1914, and went into effect immediately.

Village Law

A. 904, INT. 930 (S. 234). CHAPTER 403 OF THE LAWS OF 1914.

An act to amend the Village Law, in relation to contracts for indemnity insurance against damages for injuries to persons.

Adds subdivision 27 to section 89 of the Village Law by providing that trustees may contract, at the expense of the village, for indemnity insurance insuring the village against damages for injuries to persons.

The bill became a law April 17, 1914, and went into effect immediately.

Workmer's Compensation Law

S. 268, INT. 267 (A. 848). CHAPTER 41 OF THE LAWS OF 1914.

An act to re-enact and amend the Workmen's Compensation Law.

The Legislature has re-enacted the Workmen's Compensation Law in order to avoid any question as to its constitutionality due to the original act having been passed before the constitutional amendment authorizing it became effective. The only important change made in the law as re-enacted is an amendment to section 60, providing that not more than three of the five compensation commissioners shall belong to the same political party.

The bill became a law March 16, 1914, and went into effect immediately, except that compensation was not payable until July 1, 1914.

S. 1651, INT. 1318. CHAPTER 316 OF THE LAWS OF 1914.

An act to amend the Workmen's Compensation Law, generally.

Subdivisions 3 of sections 3 and 50, and sections 11, 16, and 30 were amended by extending the definition of an employer to include the State and municipal corporations or other political subdivisions thereof; by providing that in an action against an employer rejecting the law, the employee need not plead or prove freedom from contributory negligence; increasing the compensation of a surviving child under 18 years of age in case of the subsequent death of a surviving wife or dependent husband; by providing that benefits from other pension systems, not contributed to by a State, municipal or other political employee, may be applied towards payment of the death benefit provided by this chapter and changing the penalty against delinquent employers.

The bill became a law April 14, 1914, and went into effect immediately.

BILLS INTRODUCED AT THE REQUEST OF THE DEPARTMENT WHICH FAILED OF PASSAGE

Insurance Law

S. 917, INT. 846 (A. 1191, INT. 1105).

An act to amend the Insurance Law, in relation to the expenses of examinations.

Amending section 7, by requiring insurance companies to pay all expenses of examinations made by employees of the Insurance Department. At present such expense is restricted to examiners only.

The bill died in the Insurance Committees.

S. 1132, INT. 1003.

An act to amend the Insurance Law, in relation to the investment of capital and surplus in the stock of another insurance corporation.

Amending section 16, by removing the prohibition against investment in or loan of the capital and surplus of an insurance company on the stock of another company in the same line of business and also removing the prohibition against one company obtaining control of another corporation; but providing that in determining the condition of any such corporation, the Superintendent of Insurance shall not allow as an asset investment in or loans on the stock of any of any other insurance corporation carrying on the same kind of insurance business.

The bill died in the Insurance Committee.

S. 1131, INT. 1002 (A. 1596, INT. 1386).

An act to amend chapter thirty-three of the laws of nineteen hundred and nine, entitled "An act in relation to insurance corporations, constituting chapter twenty-eight of the consolidated laws," in reference to incorporation and admission of reinsurance companies.

Adding new section 67, authorizing thirteen or more persons to become a stock corporation for the purpose of reinsuring one or more of the kinds of insurance permitted by the laws of this State upon making and filing in the office of the Superintendent of Insurance a certificate and copy of proposed charter and the receipt of a certificate of incorporation from said Superintendent; prohibiting such a company from reinsuring the entire liability of any insurance company, nor more than one-half of the entire amount of any single risk which it reinsures; permitting domestic insurance corporations desiring to do a reinsurance business only to reincorporate and adopt a new charter under section 52, and providing that no such company shall be organized with a less capital and surplus than the aggregate of capital and surplus required by the laws of the State for every kind of insurance which it is permitted to reinsure and authorizing foreign reinsurance companies to be admitted upon compliance with certain conditions named in the bill.

The bill died in the Insurance Committees.

A. 1789, INT. 1495.

An act to amend the Insurance Law, in relation to the standard fire insurance policy of the State of New York.

Amending section 121, requiring the Superintendent of Insurance on or before January 1, 1915, to prepare and file in the Insurance Department two forms of the standard fire insurance policy of the State of New York, one of large form similar as to size, arrangement and style to the policy of eighteen hundred and eighty-six, as filed with the Secretary of State, and the other a typewriter form similar as to size, arrangement and style to the policy approved by the Superintendent, pursuant to the provisions of chapter 168 of the Laws of 1910. Each of said forms, except as to size, arrangement and style thereof, and except as to references made necessary by such size, arrangement and style shall conform in all particulars to the "standard fire insurance policy of the state of New York," as follows, to-wit: [Here is incorporated amended standard fire policy]; requiring all fire companies to issue policies to conform in all particulars to one of the forms of the standard fire insurance policy of the State of New York [except that a mutual fire company may append its special regulations]; providing that no other conditions shall be made a part of such standard fire policy, except certain provisions as to name and kind of corporation, description of property, etc., and such endorsements and descriptive matter as may be approved by the Superintendent of Insurance; and authorizing the issuance by two or more fire companies of combination policies, with the approval of the Superintendent, and under certain conditions named in the bill.

The bill died in the Insurance Committee.

BILLS WHICH DID NOT HAVE THE APPROVAL OF THE DEPARTMENT AND WHICH WERE EITHER VETOED OR FAILED OF PASSAGE*Insurance Law

S. 870, INT. 798 (A. 1120, INT. 1047).

An act to amend the Insurance Law, in relation to prohibiting group insurance from membership of fraternal benefit societies.

Adding new section 60-a, prohibiting any insurance corporation, company, association or fraternal society, or any agent, solicitor, broker or other person from effecting any form of group insurance from the membership of any supreme body, subordinate lodge or body of any fraternal benefit society and providing a penalty for its violation. As reinsurance of fraternal must be upon the group plan, it was thought by those who considered this measure that its passage might result in preventing the reinsurance of fraternal societies either by another such society or an old-line insurance company. The bill was, therefore, allowed to die in the Insurance Committee.

A. 340, INT. 338.

An act to amend the Insurance Law, in relation to cash surrender values, paid-up insurance and extended insurance on prudential and industrial policies.

Adding new section 88-a, providing that after premiums have been paid for three years on any policy of prudential or industrial insurance issued after January 1, 1915, such policy in case of failure to pay any premium is to be binding upon the company as automatic extended term insurance for its face amount for such term as the reserve on the policy will purchase at net single premium rates. When there has been a default after premiums have been paid for five years, the holder of the policy may within thirteen weeks from the date to which premiums have been paid elect in lieu of extended insurance [a], to surrender the policy to the company and receive in exchange a paid-up policy which shall be worth at least as much as the extended term insurance; or [b] to surrender the policy with the assent of the person to whom it is payable and receive its value in cash within sixty days, such surrender value to be equal to the net single premium available to purchase extended term insurance.

The bill died in the Insurance Committee.

A. 364, INT. 362.

An act to amend the Insurance Law, in relation to right to paid-up policy or rebate value to be printed on policy.

Adding new section 91-a, providing that after June 1, 1911,* every life insurance policy issued by a company doing business in this State, on which the premium is payable monthly or weekly, must have conspicuously printed on it a notice to the effect that if there is default in payment of the premium or interest on the policy after it has been in force for three years, the policy is not to lapse or be forfeited but to have a paid-up or surrender value at the option of the insured.

The bill died in the Insurance Committee.

* So given in the bill.

A. 1203, INT. 1117 (S. 464).

An act to amend the Insurance Law, relative to the merger or consolidation of certain corporations.

Adding new section 109, authorizing casualty insurance corporations existing under the laws of this State, with the approval of the Superintendent of Insurance, to merge with similar corporations existing under the laws of this and other States and territories; providing that the amount of the capital stock of the new corporation shall not exceed the aggregate of the capital of the merged corporations and that the agreement for merger must be consented to by a vote of the majority of the board of directors of each corporation and must be approved by the votes of the stockholders owning at least two-thirds of the stock of each corporation.

The bill passed the Senate and Assembly but was vetoed by the Governor April 22, 1914, for the reason that it left the status of the merged corporation in doubt as to the laws controlling its supervision, threatened the solvency of a company by permitting merger with a foreign company with insufficient reserves, and it was questionable whether a consolidation of a domestic and foreign corporation could be legally effected without the unanimous consent of the stockholders of the respective companies. It was also a question whether a statute of the State which prescribed that minority stockholders of a foreign corporation refusing to consent to the merger should surrender their certificates of stock and accept in lieu thereof new certificates in the new corporation, was constitutional. A similar measure was defeated last year.

An act to amend the Insurance Law, in relation to the incorporation of automobile owners' mutual insurance associations.

Adding new article II-a, providing that thirteen or more owners of automobiles not used in trade or manufacture nor operated for hire may form a corporation for the purpose of insuring on the mutual plan against any of the hazards of fire, explosion, transportation, collision, loss by legal liability for damage to person or property for which loss or damage the person insured is liable, resulting from the maintenance and use of such automobiles, and loss by burglary, or theft, or both, and to effect reinsurance of any risks taken by them, by filing a certificate and proposed charter with the Superintendent of Insurance; prohibiting the transaction of business until the owners of at least 500 automobiles not used in trade or manufacture nor operated for hire shall have applied for and agreed to take insurance and a license has been issued by the Superintendent; requiring the company to file with the Superintendent for approval as to adequacy its classification of risks and premiums together with basis rates and schedules; authorizing the company to levy assessments for an amount not less than the premium stipulated in the policy but the maximum liability to be limited in the by-laws or policies; allowing the company to declare dividends from the surplus earnings and requiring the maintenance of such reserves as the Superintendent of Insurance may require; directing him to examine the company at least every two years and to proceed under section 63 if the number of members falls below that required.

The bill passed both houses of the Legislature, but was vetoed by the Governor on April 24, 1914, for the reason that while the primary object sought—the extension of mutual insurance to cover all hazards which automobile owners must meet—was good, it would unjustly discriminate against stock corporations which are not permitted to combine a fire and casualty business; and for the further reason that the act was to take effect immediately and the Insurance Department, owing to its lack of statistics or experience, could not fulfill the rate-making functions given it by the measure in a manner creditable to the State and helpful to the insuring public.

An act to amend the Insurance Law, in relation to mutual employers' liability and workmen's compensation corporations, and repealing section one hundred and ninety-four thereof.

Amending section 191, in relation to reserve funds of mutual employers' liability and workmen's compensation corporations, so as to require such corporations to maintain the same reserves for the protection of policyholders on all insurance business other than liability for compensation resulting from injuries suffered by employees, as is required of stock companies engaged in the same class of insurance business; and the maintenance of the same reserves for liability for insurance of compensation under the Workmen's Compensation Law, as provided by the Workmen's Compensation Commission for the State insurance fund. Repealing old section 194 and adding new section 194, providing that mutual companies organized under article V-a, shall be exempt from the other provisions of the Insurance Law or other laws thereafter passed unless expressly designated therein. Adding new section 195 authorizing the admission of certain foreign mutual companies engaged in the same kind of business upon complying with certain requirements specified in the bill.

The bill died in the Insurance Committees.

S. 1416, INT. 1196 (A. 1744, INT. 1472).

An act to amend the Insurance Law, in relation to certificates of authority to be issued by the Superintendent of Insurance.

Adding new section 204-a, authorizing the issuance of certificates of authority by the Superintendent of Insurance to certain fraternal organizations desiring to do business in another State or territory which extends like privileges to corporations to do business in this State. This measure was first introduced at the instance of the Masonic Life Association of Buffalo some six years ago and was vetoed successively by Governors Hughes, Dix and Sulzer for the reason that its passage would repudiate the reform legislation of 1906, prohibiting the admission of assessment insurance associations of other States.

The bill passed the Senate and Assembly but was again vetoed by the Governor on April 24, 1914.

S. 871, INT. 799 (A. 1119, INT. 1046).

An act to amend the Insurance Law, in relation to the powers of fraternal benefit societies.

Adding new subdivision 4, to section 231, authorizing fraternal benefit societies to insure in the amounts named in the bill against the death of children between the ages of one and sixteen years upon examination by a legally qualified physician and requiring that the applicants for such insurance must be members of the society and the parent, guardian or other person upon whom such children are dependent for support.

The bill died in the Insurance Committees.

Benevolent Orders Law

A. 312, INT. 311 (S. 1349).

An act to amend the Benevolent Orders Law, in relation to the Red Eagles Supreme Council.

Adding new subdivision 24 to section 2 of chapter 11 of the Laws of 1909, as added by chapter 250 of the Laws of 1913 [Benevolent Orders Law], by bringing within the provisions of such law the Red Eagles Supreme Council, or local councils thereof, duly chartered and instituted in accordance with the statutes and laws of said Red Eagles Supreme Council.

The bill passed both Houses of the Legislature but was vetoed by the Governor April 24, 1914.

Code of Civil Procedure

S. 519, INT. 481 (A. 752, INT. 724).

An act to amend the Code of Civil Procedure, in relation to limitations and repealing subdivision three of section three hundred and eighty-three thereof.

Adding new subdivision 8, to section 382, and repealing subdivision 5 of section 383 of the Code of Civil Procedure by extending the time within which "an action to recover damages for personal injury, resulting from negligence" shall be brought from three years to six years. It was thought that this measure, if passed, might open the way to all kinds of deferred damage suit cases and it was therefore allowed to die in the Codes Committees.

BILLS INTRODUCED BY VARIOUS MEMBERS WHICH FAILED OF PASSAGE OR WERE VETOED

Greater New York Charter

A. 1518, INT. 951 (S. 1311, INT. 556).

An act to amend the Greater New York Charter, in relation to the collection and distribution of the tax on the agents of foreign fire insurance companies.

Amending sections 799, 808, 809, 810, 811 and 812 of the Greater New York charter, relative to the collection and distribution of the tax on receipts of agents of foreign fire insurance companies for the benefit of the Volunteer Firemen's Home at Hudson, Columbia County.

The bill passed both houses of the Legislature but was vetoed by the Mayor April 17, 1914.

Tax Law

A. 724, INT. 696.

An act authorizing and directing the Comptroller to revise and resettle the tax accounts for the year nineteen hundred and twelve, of insurance corporations which paid their annual franchise taxes for such year prior to the taking effect of chapter three hundred and fifty-seven of the laws of nineteen hundred and thirteen.

Authorizing the State Comptroller to readjust and resettle any account for annual franchise taxes for the year 1912, paid by any insurance corporation under section 187 of the Tax Law, and which by reason of anticipating the payment of such annual franchise tax due on or before June 1, 1913, has not been credited with the one-half per centum of the par value of any bonds of the State of New York, held by it and directed to be credited by chapter 357 of the Laws of 1913.

The bill passed both Houses of the Legislature but was vetoed by the Governor April 24, 1914.

S. 605, INT. 558.

An act to amend the Tax Law, in relation to the franchise tax on trust companies.

Amending section 188 of the Tax Law, by providing that a trust company engaged in the business of examining and insuring titles to real property, shall pay to the State annually, for the privilege of exercising its corporate franchise, a tax which shall be equal to 10 per centum of its net earnings unless such percentage of its net earnings shall exceed 1 per centum of its capital, surplus and undivided profits, in which case it shall pay an annual tax equal to 1 per centum of such capital, surplus and undivided profits.

The bill died in the Taxation and Retrenchment Committee.

Social Legislation

A. 1017, INT. 948.

An act to establish a commission to inquire into old age, sickness and unemployment insurance and pensions; to suggest legislation in respect thereto and making an appropriation therefor.

Providing for the establishment of a Commission of five members to be known as the Old Age, Sickness and Unemployment Insurance and Pension Commission, three of whom are to be appointed by the Governor, one by the President of the Senate and one by the Speaker of the Assembly, and all to serve without compensation and directing the Attorney-General or a Deputy appointed by him to act as counsel to the Commission. The duties of the Commission are to inquire into all questions relating to the organization and operation in other countries of like systems of old age, sickness and unemployment insurance and pensions and to submit a report with recommendations and proposed legislation to the Legislature of 1915; giving the Commission the right to invoke the powers of a court of record to compel attendance of witnesses and power to administer oaths; and appropriating the sum of $10,000, or so much thereof as may be necessary, to pay the expenses of such investigation.

The bill died in the Committee on Ways and Means.

Workmen's Compensation Insurance

A. 1803, INT. 1499.

An act making a reappropriation of money heretofore appropriated for carrying out the objects and purposes of the Workmen's Compensation Law.

Reappropriating the sum of $150,000, or so much thereof as may be necessary — heretofore appropriated by chapter 817 of the Laws of 1913, being unexpended — for carrying out the objects and purposes of chapter 816 of the Laws of 1913, as amended, of which $50,000 shall be available for payment of the expenses, etc., of the State Workmen's Compensation Commission and $100,000 for the expense of the establishment and administration of the "state insurance fund."

The bill died in the Committee on Ways and Means.

BUSINESS OF 1914

Table I shows the amount and character of the assets of the Fire and Fire-Marine Insurance Companies of this country and Foreign Fire Insurance Companies of other countries, United States branches, doing business in this State on December 31, 1914. The aggregate is $694,213,077.80, classified as follows: New York Joint-Stock Companies, $192,883,778.98; Joint-Stock Companies of other States, $305,009,331.55; Foreign Fire Insurance Companies, United States branches, $159,937,604.69; New York Mutuals, $777,985.34; Mutuals of other States, $35,604,377.24. Compared with 1913, these figures show an aggregate increase of $30,324,874.73.

Table II gives the liabilities of these companies. Excepting capital the figures are: New York Joint-Stock Companies, $93,387,525.24; other States' Joint-Stock Companies, $166,197,262.90; Foreign Fire Insurance Companies of other countries, United States branches, $106,927,024.48; New York Mutuals, $111,462.00; other States' Mutuals, $21,221,366.77; total, $387,844,641.39; an increase of $25,517,958.09. The total amount of capital for 1914 is $89,783,914.70.

Table III gives the character and sources of income for the year, the aggregate of which is $400,469,082.92. The net excess of income over disbursements is $18,008,630.64. One hundred and sixty-nine companies received $26,906,920.87 more than they disbursed, and seventy-two companies disbursed $8,898,290.23 more than they received. This table also indicates the companies which unite, with a Fire, a Marine business.

Table IV shows the disbursements, itemized and in gross, the total amount being $382,460,452.28; which was $29,757,351.04 more than was reported for 1913.

Table V shows the American capital of Foreign Companies, under section 27 of the Insurance law, to be $28,330,102.07, an increase of $15,297.32, compared with the amount reported for 1913.

Table VI gives the American assets of Foreign Marine Companies of other countries.

Table VII exhibits the business done by all the Fire, Fire-Marine and Marine Insurance Companies which made returns to this Department, showing premiums written and amount of insurance in force. From this table it appears that 264 companies at the close of the year were covering $61,588,039,661 of risks in force. During the year said companies for $598,637,380.20 in gross premiums, undertook to carry $68,415,224,166 of risks, an average premium of about .875 for every $100 insured.

Table VIII shows the disposition of the income — $375,878,661.81 was received in premiums; $210,298,355.05 was paid for losses; $165,109,604.35 for miscellaneous disbursements and $28,584,877.56 for dividends.

Table IX is an exhibit of the business done in New York State by the Joint-Stock Fire Companies of this and other States and countries, and by the Mutuals of this and other States.

The fire premiums received were $47,756,198.19; fire losses paid, $25,696,965.69; fire losses incurred, $25,398,020.39; showing an apparent net excess of fire premiums received over fire losses incurred of $22,358,177.80.

The estimated expense for the transaction of this business is $15,918,732.73, which if added to the incurred losses makes a total of $41,316,753.12. On this basis the excess of fire premiums received over fire losses incurred and estimated expenses is shown in the following classified exhibit:

| COMPANIES             | Excess of fire premiumsreceived over fire lossesincurred and estimatedexpenses |
|-----------------------|--|
| New York State .....  | $1,957,996 86   |

|                       | $6,439,445 07   |
|                       | <hr/>  |

The amount of fire risks written in this State in 1913 was $6,267,870,880; in 1914, $6,203,256,572; a decrease of $64,614,308. The amount of marine and inland risks written in 1913 by fire and fire-marine companies was $1,583,802,075; in 1914, $1,698,457,195, an increase of $114,655,120.

Table X, compiled from the underwriting and investment exhibit, shows the sources of increase and decrease in surplus during the year 1914. The underwriting loss of the 264 Fire, Fire-

Marine and Marine Insurance Companies reporting to the Department for the year 1914 is found to be $549,193. The gain from investments of the above companies $31,147,544, total gain $30,598,351, from which must be deducted the loss in surplus of $30,079,199 from dividends declared, balance of remittances to and from home offices of foreign fire and marine companies of other countries and changes in special reserves, making a total net gain in surplus of $519,152 for 1914 as against a total net loss in 1913 of $10,041,189.
